Program for the examination day

Time:       Monday, March 15, 09.15 – 17.00
Place:      Pol 1311

The examination day will be divided into separate parts. Please read carefully, so that you can prepare yourself and your group.

1. A short written examination in Quiz-form.
   This is a theory quiz on the course material. It will be based on the lecture slides and the documents and external links available on the course home page. The material is available under each lecture label. You should read all the material listed there, but focus on the main concepts. Do not try to memorize all details, but you should know and be able to explain the main concepts and techniques. Some documents you can just scan through quickly.

   You must complete the quiz individually. It will consist of 15 questions: each question will be displayed on the screen for exactly 2 minutes, so the total time for this part is 30 minutes. The answers must be very short!

   This will account for 15% of your overall score.

2. Design assignment.
   You will be presented a design problem, in form of pictures on the wall. You will be given the assignment to find a design solution to the specified problem. You must individually report your solution. The report should be 1 page (A4) with a design sketch and 1 page (A4) where you explain and motivate your solution. The total time will be 45 min. for this assignment.

   This will account for 15% of your overall score.

3. Design and social media
   You should read an article in advance. You can also bring a copy of this article with you. You will be given some questions related to the article, to answer in written form individually. The total time for this part will be 40 min. Write only short answers.

   The article can be found here:
   http://jcmc.indiana.edu/vol12/issue4/ellison.html

   This will account for 15% of your overall score.
4. Report from group assignment.
You will in advance be given a small group assignment (see below). Here you should present the result of your assignment orally for the other groups. Each group will be given 10 min. for presentation. You should prepare a very short presentation, e.g. in PowerPoint, and tell the other groups the main ideas that you have developed. Remember to plan everything carefully, including your presentation, so that you manage within 10 minutes total time! We will have a computer available, or use your own. Remember to check that everything works!

The assignment for this part is specified below.

This will account for 20% of your overall score.

5. Group blog
You should finish your group blog. The last week you should reflect about your workshop about inclusive design and design for the elderly. You can also make some concluding remarks and discussion about what you have learned during the course. The blog should be finished not later than Friday March 19.

This will account for 35% of your overall score.

Good luck!

Group design assignment

The "Design for ALL"-shopping cart
- Describe the problems with a standard shopping-cart from a "Design for all/Inclusive Design"-perspective.
- Redesign the cart according to the "Design for all"-paradigm as a self-powered shopping tool.
- Also design the "driver’s" interface (control panel).
- Focus on the main design ideas, not on the details.
- Motivate your design!
