Seek up to 1 million SEK in the call “Projects for better health” - Two information meetings about the call November 16

The call addresses collaborating parties within the sectors of healthcare, academia/institutes and industry and opens November 20. The ideas sought are to be innovative and unique with the potential to be developed into innovations. This could entail new products, services, processes or other quality- or value-generating solutions focused on the patient. In this call the grant may amount to a maximum of 1 million SEK. The proposed solutions are expected to lead to improved prevention, diagnosis, monitoring or treatment of diseases and other conditions that require, or may come to require, healthcare.

DATE FOR THE TWO INFORMATION MEETINGS: November 16, 2017

The same information will be given on two occasions:

- 08.30 – 9:00, Mötestorget, Navet, BMC or
- 11.00- 12.00 Rudbecklaboratory, Room Charles Darwin

Erik Olaisson, Regional Swelife coordinator, Uppsala BIO, will tell more about the call and how you can benefit from the Swelife Hands-on model to receive feedback on your application and make your project idea even better.

For questions around the call, contact erik.olaisson@uppsalabio.com or Cecilia.nilsson@uuinnovation.uu.se

The call is made in collaboration between the strategic innovation programs Swelife and MedTech4Health. Both work for sustainable growth in the life science sector in Sweden.

More information about the call