Because of exams not very much work has been done this week either. We’ve continued working on a model description and debugged our current code. We’ve also been working quite a bit on the program structure. The skeleton is finished and should be able to hand different kinds of regulators. Important issues to concentrate on:

- Multitasking
- Time Slice
- Engine power
- Modularity